Dear Fellow Tinmoggers,

Well, our first event for months took place on Thursday, 27th May we managed to organise a lunch at the Crown Inn, Lanlivery! Luckily, as the event had to be held outside, the weather was kind to us, dry and sunny. There were 24 members who braved the first outing after lockdown, and there were 11 Morgans on parade, a very good start for the year. The lunch, of course, had to be held outside in the Emperor's new tent, either that or the roof and sides were of very clean polythene (see picture).

On arrival we were all quite happy chatting and then realised we were expected at the pub at 12:30, so we then strolled into the garden. Please note that social distancing was being observed!

They were very good to us and came and took our orders so we didn't have to use those new-fangled square things that were on each table that required a smartphone to access the menu. Soon we were enjoying the company and the food!

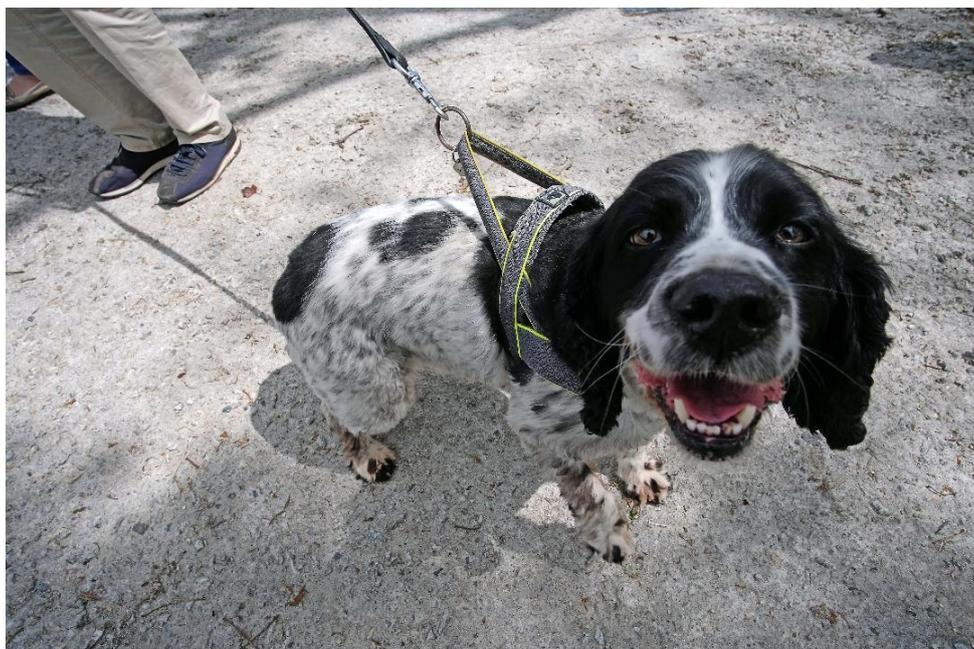

Those of us that came up through St. Austell decide to use a different return route due to the number of roadworks we had had to negotiate getting to Lanlivery, still, the weather was good and hoods were down.

The car park was rather full and we were not able to have all our Morgans parked next to each other, but it's good to see them all out on a sunny day – note the shadows! No, Cliff Richard wasn't hiding, he was unable to attend the event.

We had the Dog in a Mog, Ozzie, who brought his human along with him in the form of Julia. When they arrived in the car park, it was difficult to determine who was driving, Ozzie was bolt upright looking straight ahead, he looked as though he was in charge

As for future events, Lesley has organised the next lunch which will be at the Crown Inn, Lanlivery on the 24th of June at 12:30. Lesley did try other venues, but they were not taking bookings until the announcement which is going to be made on the 21st regarding the relaxation of the Covid rules/laws is made. Further relaxation of the rules/laws is looking a tad slim at the moment, but we just have to wait and see.

The October tour is looking good – at the moment. Marjorie has been in touch with the two hotels we will be using, see her report below. Sadly, the Llangollen Railway may not be open, but us steam freaks have our fingers crossed!

EVENTS

Thursday, 24th June – Lunch, organised by Lesley. The venue will be The Crown Inn, Lanlivery, time: 12:30. Lesley had tried other places, but none were willing to take a group booking before the announcement on the relaxing of the Covid restrictions on 21st June.

Tinmog Autumn Tour October 18th – 22nd 2021

Hopefully the Tinmog Autumn Tour, postponed from last October, should be able to take place this year. The hotels have confirmed our bookings are still in place. The Tour starts on Monday, October 18th with a night at the Beaufort Hotel Raglan. We will then follow a scenic route through the Welsh borders to the Wild Pheasant Hotel and Spa, Llangollen, where we will spend three nights. We will have two days to explore North Wales before leaving on the Friday morning to make our individual ways home.

A number of Tinmoggers have already carried their bookings over from last year. Hotel rates are £160 Dinner bed and breakfast/double room/night at the Beaufort Arms and £140 at the Wild Pheasant. A £30 deposit will be required with the Wild Pheasant booking. If you would like to join us please email for more details or to reserve a place.
